Brad Fregger, futurist, businessman, author, professor, international speaker, publisher, father, grandfather, and great grandfather, shares his research and ideas concerning creation, evolution, Universal Consciousness, the holographic universe, and life and death. Much of what he writes will be controversial on both sides of many of these issues, and some are both unbelievable and downright weird. However, it is a good read that should spark some very interesting discussions. "It is so obvious, the singularity explodes in the Big Bang; matter, energy, space, time, and consciousness are created at the very moment of the explosion. Slowly consciousness becomes aware and as it becomes aware it begins to play. The galaxies are formed, with individual stars, light and life follows; an infinite playground."
